

DEXSAR® Positioned as a “Visionary” in Leading Analyst Firms’ Magic Quadrant for Managed File Transfer (MFT)

DEXSAR reduces need for knowledge workers to change or learn new processes when exchanging files.

HERNDON, Va., September 28, 2009 — DEXSAR, a developer of online and software managed file transfer and data loss protection solutions, announced Gartner has placed it in the Visionaries Quadrant of the “Magic Quadrant for Managed File Transfer.”

The report, written by Gartner’s L. Frank Kenney, states, “A company’s needs for managed file transfer has evolved into more holistic requirements that include the ability to provide a set of services that work to enable various governance processes and polices related to the management, coordination and trust of the file transfer.”

“All businesses today are expected to protect confidential and sensitive company information and many have specific government regulations to follow including GLBA, HIPAA, PCI, and SOX” stated Gary Mueller, CEO, DEXSAR. “Solutions need to be both easy for the knowledge worker and conform to the governance requirements. We’re pleased to be included in the Visionaries quadrant of the report.”

DEXSAR is easy-to-use and highly flexible. It is designed for client facing organizations, including law firms, accountants, financial planners, medical facilities, and insurance agents who need to protect their clients’ confidentiality but also need the efficiency and security of proactive measures. With DEXSAR, businesses reduce their risk of exposing company information.

DEXSAR is the first Internet service in the industry to offer customers a data loss protection guarantee. This unique offering provides businesses with more than peace-of-mind when it comes to the risks associated with protecting clients’ confidential information.

About the Magic Quadrant
