

McLean Insurance Agency Adopts DEXSAR™ to Securely Deliver and Share Policy Documents with Clients

Secure delivery of confidential information protects clients and provides competitive advantage while reducing operating costs

Herndon, VA, July 14, 2008 – Digital Now, Inc., a pioneer in software and online digital document and file exchange solutions, has announced, McLean Insurance Agency (MIA), a full service independent insurance agency, has adopted the DEXSAR Service to deliver confidential insurance policies and will use the service for secure communications to its 3,000 clients.

DEXSAR provides MIA with the ability to seamlessly and securely communicate with clients, by enabling authenticated, sensitive insurance document delivery, exchange and retrieval. A complimentary solution to MIA's existing internal systems, DEXSAR allows for easy, tailored implementation, resulting in a user friendly uncomplicated infrastructure for all.

In line with MIA's founding principles that "Clients come first" and "A well-informed client is your best customer," MIA President, Douglas B. Megill stressed the significance of DEXSAR and the positive effect it will have on his customers. "Our clients' protection is paramount. We continuously search for client value and provide the best tools for our staff to deliver it. We believe DEXSAR goes perfectly with our Asset Protection Plan, reducing our clients' exposure to disasters of valuable papers and records. Our communication and delivery processes are rapidly moving into the digital age and with DEXSAR, we can quickly exchange private and personalized documents with our clients."

As a leading insurance agency deploying DEXSAR, Mr. Megill knows his company is gaining a competitive advantage while reducing administrative communications costs. And as more and more organizations join the DEXSAR Network for secure client deliveries, clients get an easy-to-use, single portal for all of their important documents.

"We acknowledge the strength we will gain by providing a digital exchange network to our clients," said Megill. "With DEXSAR we deliver secure communications and insurance documents in real time. By responding quickly to the needs of our busy clients and exceeding their expectations, we enhance our business relationships."

DEXSAR is powered by Digital Now, Inc., a pioneer in software and online solutions in digital data management for businesses. Gary Mueller, president and CEO of Digital Now, complimented MIA for its innovative use of DEXSAR for digitally secure policy delivery. "McLean Insurance is always proactive in serving the needs of their clients. Not only are they pioneering the adoption of 21st century technology for the insurance industry, they are also helping to save the environment."
