

DEXSAR Introduces Themes for Digital Safe - Deposit Box Solution

Credit Unions establish a stronger member connection with value-added DEXSAR service

Herndon, VA, March 26, 2008 - Digital Now, Inc., a pioneer in document delivery, exchange and digital protection services, today announced a new version of DEXSAR which enables credit unions to implement a theme to establish a stronger connection with members. DEXSAR gives credit unions a valued-added solution where members can receive, protect and manage a variety of digital files and documents – a virtual digital safe-deposit box. The new theme capabilities provide credit unions with the ability to deliver a highly branded service to members while also enhancing their ability to stay connected with their members.

The DEXSAR solution provides credit unions with a trusted account network where they can securely deliver and exchange a wide-range of confidential and sensitive information with their members. Information which can be delivered via the DEXSAR solution includes: statements, notices, account disclosures, completed loan documents and marketing materials. With a DEXSAR account, members have a reason to give up statements and go completely electronic. In addition, members receive a valuable service where they can protect and manage all of their valuable and sensitive digital assets. Any type of digital file or document such as financial or legal records, photographs, software, videos, and music can easily be protected and managed in a DEXSAR account.

“With the recent announcement by Wells Fargo introducing their vSafe service, credit unions are faced with another competitive challenge”, said Gary Mueller, CEO of Digital Now. The DEXSAR solution for credit unions already provides a service that allows them to stay competitive. “Clearly, Wells Fargo has recognized the need by consumers to protect and manage their all of their growing digital assets in one central place and the best place to turn is a financial institution that is trusted”, further commented Gary Mueller.

Over the past two years the DEXSAR solution was introduced into a variety of industry markets. A solution specifically for credit unions was recently introduced at the CUNA Governmental Affairs Conference. Currently, Digital Now is pleased to extend the conference pricing to interested credit unions.
